

United Minority Contractors of North Carolina (UMCNC) is a 501(c)(6) tax exempt trade association incorporated in December of 2005. UMCNC is the North Carolina state chapter of the National Association of Minority Contractors. UMCNC's mission is to promote Excellence, Opportunity and Growth for minority and women contractors and construction industry-related professionals by actively engaging in activities related to: education, training and capacity building; economic and business development; collaboration and strategic alliances; governmental and legislative advocacy; and leadership development. UMCNC's membership is comprised of small trade and specialty contractors, attorneys, architects, engineers, suppliers, consultants, general contractors and construction management firms with diversity from every minority classification. UMCNC has successfully engaged the construction community as a representative voice and champion for the concerns and interests of minorities in the construction industry. The association maintains a website at www.umcnc.org, produces a bi-monthly newsletter, and provides member discount programs, such as OfficeMax.

UMCNC continues to build upon its three-year growth by establishing strong corporate and non-profit relationships with affiliates across North Carolina that embrace our vision and mission for full participation in the construction industry. The value proposition for the success of minority and women contractors and construction industry-related professionals in North Carolina is not only an economic benefit to the communities they serve but also enhances the quality of life for individual families.

Please take a moment to visit our website to view the latest association updates, announcements and developments. You can also access UMCNC's "Who's Who System," which is a growing on-line database designed to streamline the efforts of project owners and general contractors in finding minority and women prime and subcontractors for private and public sector work.
